

JVDA Name Change Announced

Lexington, Ky. (September 18, 2009) - During the 18-Open championship finals at Freedom Hall in Louisville, Kentucky, the Junior Volleyball Directors Association (JVDA) announced a name change for the organization.

According to John Sample, JVDA Board President, "The growth and expansion of the organization this past year required a revisit to the association Name. The name change to JVA (Junior Volleyball Association) more adequately represents who we represent and where the organization is headed. We are excited about the opportunities next year and beyond and feel the new name represents the ideals of the founding members."

Please visit the website at www.jvavolleyball.org and check out the 2009 Championship Slide Show as well as the preliminary event schedule for 2010.

-JVA-