*Minority Coaches Workshop attendees are invited to attend all educational sessions, networking events and meetings.

Per NCAA Grant requirements, eligible attendees must be minority women intent on pursuing volleyball coaching at an NCAA institution as a head or assistant coach. Workshop attendees do not need to currently hold such a position, but must aspire to enter the NCAA collegiate coaching field. In addition, participants must be a first-time attendee of the convention workshop. Previous workshop attendees are welcome to attend but are not eligible for the scholarship. The grant will cover the airfare and hotel expenses for ten (10) first-time workshop attendees up to $800. Registration for the workshop and convention are also covered by the grant but attendees would need to purchase match tickets if desired. Prime candidates for this program are college seniors, high school and club coaches looking for college jobs, DII, DIII, NAIA and junior college assistants willing to move to head coaching positions, and DI second assistant and graduate assistants. Minority men are a secondary target for this program.

2009 AVCA Annual Convention – Tampa, Florida
December 16 – 20, 2009

Thanks to a grant provided by the NCAA, the American Volleyball Coaches Association will host its seventh professional coaching workshop for minority women December 16 – 20 in conjunction with the 2009 AVCA Annual Convention. The workshop will provide an opportunity for attendees to interact with others who have had success at all levels of coaching. It will also allow attendees to explore the limitless networking and educational opportunities available at the AVCA Annual Convention. This workshop includes a one-year membership to the AVCA for new members. This is a unique opportunity to develop your professional skills and become a better coach and leader.
