What made you decide to get into coaching volleyball?

I learned the game as a freshmen in high school and I couldn't stop craving to learn more. Throughout high school, I learned the different positions and the ins and outs of the game. I knew I wanted to coach but I always assumed it would be anything but volleyball. I now couldn't imagine anything else. This game has given so much to me in terms of friendships with fellow coaches and players, I coach so I can just try to give a little back to the game.

What are your career goals in the sport?

I want every athlete leaving our program to know how much they are cared about and that if they ever want to get into coaching, ACS will welcome them back with open arms. I love seeing our program grow with alumni leading it. My biggest goal is for my final coaching job to be Head Girls Volleyball Coach at Allen County Scottsville.

Which coaches have influenced you the most?

My dad is a veteran coach in multiple sports and has taught me a lot I know about coaching high school athletics. I also look up to Travis Hudson as much as any higher level coach. His humility and true servant-leadership is what I strive for each day at ACS.

What do you enjoy most about your coaching job?

There is nothing like watching an athlete grow and “get it”. Volleyball is a microcosm for real life. I love watching our student-athletes overcome adversity and love learning. I could not imagine doing anything else!
