The Edge Volleyball Club - Head Coach - November 2022 to Present

What made you decide to get into coaching volleyball?

I decided to coach volleyball because I deeply missed being involved in the sport. Volleyball has always held a meaningful place in my life, and coaching allows me to stay connected to the game in a purposeful way. It also provides the opportunity to help other players develop their skills and experience the same enjoyment and passion for the sport that I have.

What are your career goals in the sport?

My career goals in volleyball are to help athletes understand that winning is not the only measure of success in sports and to encourage them to appreciate the game for what it offers. I aim to create an environment where players feel motivated to work hard, develop their skills, and grow both as athletes and individuals. I also strive to instill in my athletes the belief that effort is always recognized and rewarded, regardless of natural ability. Ultimately, my goal is to foster a culture where dedication is valued and where a genuine, lasting love for the game can develop.

Which coaches have influenced you the most?

The coaches who have influenced me most are Daniela Habel, Sean Habel, and Josh Aberly. Daniela and Sean inspired me with their passion for developing the next generation of players, motivating me to create the best experience for the athletes I coach. Josh showed me that enjoyment in a sport isn't limited to the most talented players and that anyone can develop a love for the game, regardless of when they start. Their guidance reinforced the importance of effort, dedication, and passion—values I strive to instill in every athlete I coach.

What do you enjoy most about your coaching job?

What I enjoy most about coaching is witnessing the growth that athletes demonstrate from the beginning of the season to the end. It is incredibly rewarding to see them develop their skills, build confidence, and mature as players. Equally fulfilling is seeing the excitement and joy they experience while playing volleyball and contributing to a team environment.
