What made you decide to get into coaching volleyball?

In 2016, I had a friend that asked if I wanted to coach with her for the club season to which I agreed, and I absolutely fell in love with it.

What are your career goals in the sport?

My first goal is to continue growing the club and high school volleyball programs in Monticello. I want to build programs that consistently compete at a high level, with more state and national tournament appearances, while establishing Monticello as a respected name in volleyball. At the same time, it is important that we sustain our athletes' love for the sport and create an environment where they can grow both competitively and personally.

Secondly, I want to continue challenging myself as a coach and pursue opportunities that allow me to reach the highest level of coaching I am capable of achieving.

Which coaches have influenced you the most?

Beth Modaff - Monticello High School Varsity coach of 15 years

Joy White - Monticello High School Assistant Varsity coach

What do you enjoy most about your coaching job?

I love problem-solving and learning. The best part about coaching is that I get to do both while working with young, female athletes. Coaching allows me to walk alongside them as they navigate life as teenagers and pre-teens while also developing as volleyball players.

Together, we work through challenges, pursue their future goals, and grow as a team. I have the opportunity to continually learn how to support each athlete in ways that fit their skills, ambitions, and lives. Being part of that process is why I have the best job in the world.
